Common Signs of Employee Payment Problems

Businesses often discover:

- Employee did not receive direct deposit
- Paycheck was not generated
- Payroll processed but payment missing

- Direct deposit status remains pending
- Payroll reports show payment errors
- Payroll transmission failed
- Employee earnings not appearing correctly
- Payroll service unavailable messages

For help diagnosing the issue, call +1 (855) 914-5215 or +1 (866) 384-9053.

Cause 1: Payroll Was Not Successfully Processed

Sometimes payroll appears complete but was never fully submitted.

Check Payroll Status

Review:

- Payroll history
- Payroll processing confirmation
- Employee paycheck records
- Payroll reports

If payroll was not finalized, employee payments may not have been issued.

Need payroll review assistance? Contact +1 (855) 914-5215 or +1 (866) 384-9053.

Cause 2: Direct Deposit Failure

Direct deposit issues are among the most common reasons employees are not paid.

Possible causes include:

- Incorrect bank account information
- Invalid routing numbers
- Banking verification issues
- Direct deposit rejection
- Payroll transmission errors

Verify Employee Banking Information

Review:

- Account numbers
- Routing numbers
- Account type
- Direct deposit enrollment status

For direct deposit troubleshooting, call +1 (855) 914-5215 or +1 (866) 384-9053.

Cause 3: Payroll Submission Missed the Deadline

Direct deposit payroll must generally be submitted before designated processing deadlines.

Missing a cutoff time may delay:

- Employee payments
- Payroll transmission
- Direct deposit processing

Employees may receive payments later than expected if payroll was submitted too late.

Cause 4: Payroll Subscription Issues

QuickBooks Payroll requires an active subscription.

When payroll subscriptions expire:

- Payroll processing may stop
- Direct deposits may fail
- Payroll verification may not complete
- Tax table updates become unavailable

Check Payroll Subscription Status

1. Open QuickBooks.
2. Select Employees.
3. Click My Payroll Service.
4. Verify subscription status.

Need subscription assistance? Call +1 (855) 914-5215 or +1 (866) 384-9053.

Cause 5: Employee Setup Errors

Incorrect employee records can prevent payments from being processed correctly.

Review:

- Employee payroll settings
- Direct deposit enrollment
- Tax information
- Wage rates
- Employee status

Even a small setup mistake can affect payroll processing.

For payroll setup support, contact +1 (855) 914-5215 or +1 (866) 384-9053.

Cause 6: Payroll Updates Are Missing

Outdated payroll tax tables or software updates can interfere with payroll functions.

Install Payroll Updates

1. Open QuickBooks.
2. Go to Employees.
3. Select Get Payroll Updates.
4. Install all available updates.

Need payroll update assistance? Call +1 (855) 914-5215 or +1 (866) 384-9053.

Cause 7: Banking Verification Problems

New payroll accounts often require banking verification before direct deposits are approved.

Verification may include:

- Account authentication
- Identity verification
- Test deposit confirmation
- Banking authorization review

If verification remains incomplete, employee payments may be delayed.

Need banking verification assistance? Contact +1 (855) 914-5215 or +1 (866) 384-9053.

Cause 8: Company File Problems

Corrupted company files can affect payroll records and payment processing.

Run Verify Data

1. Open QuickBooks.
2. Select File > Utilities.
3. Choose Verify Data.

Run Rebuild Data

1. Return to Utilities.
2. Select Rebuild Data.
3. Complete the repair process.
